Product Description

The Clickfree Transformer, Network Edition, is a backup adapter that works with any USB hard drive, and backs up your computers over your existing computer network. Transformer, Network Edition, has a rich set of backup features including photo sharing, import from iPod, CD/DVD burning, and scheduled backup features.

The Transformer, Network edition, has Clickfree's new BackupLink™ technology, which helps people to backup all of the computers on their network automatically, whether they are Macs or PCs or a mixture of both, and with a setup so easy that no network expertise is required. The Transformer, Network Edition, Backup Adapter works with any USB hard drive, and can import from any iPod or iPhone.

With Clickfree BackupLink™, just plug a USB hard drive into the Transformer, and then connect the Transformer with the attached hard drive once to each computer on your network that you want to backup. Then, leave the Transformer with USB drive connected to any computer on the network, and backup will happen automatically for all of your computers. Clickfree's smart backup will automatically find, organize, and store hundreds of file types, and continue to backup what has changed, organized by each computer – it's completely automatic.

Key Features
